MOST NOTICEABLE IMPACT SO FAR SEEMS TO BE DAMAGE TO BRAND

Musk support for far right in Europe is hurting Tesla

ANDREW MACASKILL, ANDREW RC MARSHALL & NICK CAREY London, March 4

FOR THE PAST two months, tech billionaire Elon Musk has promoted Germany's far-right party in at least two dozen posts on his X platform, interviewed its leader, and told his 219 million followers it was the country's "only hope."

Yet Musk's support for Alternative fur Deutschland played little part in the party's stunning second-place result in the February 23 election, according to a Reuters review of his posts and polling data as well as interviews with political analysts.

The Tesla CEO appears undaunted, continuing to promote right-wing causes across Europe. While the most noticeable impact, so far, seems to be damage to Tesla's brand, analysts say he may have a longerterm goal for his business empire: Backing political parties that might cut back regulations he thinks impede tech innovations.

Musk and Tesla did not respond to requests for comment for this story.

In January, Musk bemoaned what he called Europe's "layer cake of regulations and bureaucracy".

The AfD — classified by Germany's domestic intelligence service as a suspected extremist group — is now Germany's largest opposition party after last month's election, despite the stigma the far right traditionally carries due to the country's Nazi past. One of the party's senior politicians had to step aside last year after declaring that the SS, the Nazis' main paramilitary force, were "not all criminals". Musk broadcast his interview with AfD leader Alice Weidel on X on January 9.

ity illustrates a phenomenon spreading across Europe as populist far-right parties make their biggest gains in decades. Once on the political fringes, they now hold or share office in Italy, the Netherlands, Hungary, Slovakia, Finland and Croatia. They are either the largest or second-largest parties in the parliaments of Sweden, Austria and now Germany, and have surged in polls in France. Support for the far right has also grown in Romania, Belgium, Spain and Portugal.

Musk has used X to promote right-wing figures in Britain, Italy and Romania, while pouring scorn on political leaders and senior EU officials.

When Musk first explicitly promoted the AfD in Germany on December 20, the party was polling at 19.3%, according to a ment in Germany.

Musk's far-right cheerleading appears to be coming at a price for Tesla, whose sales in Europe tumbled 45% in January from a year earlier, while its rivals' rose by over 37%, according to the European Automobile Manufacturers' Association, which represents major car makers.

The Reuters review of Musk's posts and reposts on X since the start of 2024 reveals his shift of focus to Europe after helping Trump win back the White House in November with over a quarter of a billion dollars in campaign donations.

In Britain, he has attacked Prime Minister Keir Starmer, called for a jailed far-right activist to be freed, and backed Reform, a right-wing populist party whose pledges to reduce immigration and abandon climate-change targets closely mirror Trump's.

In Italy, Musk has developed close relations with Prime Minister Giorgia Meloni. Both have expressed concerns about immigration and declining birth rates in Western countries. Meloni recently called Musk a "precious genius".

In Romania, he has promoted posts about far-right politician Calin Georgescu and excoriated one of the judges who annulled Georgescu's presidential bid last year due to suspected Russian interference. US tech platforms such as X have "immense power" to shape public opinion in Europe, said Damian Tambini, a specialist in media and communications regulation and policy at the London School of Economics.

Kohli stars as India beat Australia

G UNNIKRISHNAN Dubai, March 4

VIRATKOHLI DID not finish the chase for once but his measured 84-run knock steered India into their fifth Champions Trophy final with a clinical four-wicket win over an under-strength and profligate Australia in the first last-four clash here on Tuesday. The Indian triumph ensures that the final of the eight-team competition will now be held here instead of Lahore, the original host of the marquee clash, as Rohit Sharma's men will not travel there owing to security concerns.

Player of the match Kohli (84, 98 balls, 5x4) was the fulcrum of Indian batting as they scaled down 265 in 48.1 overs after Steve Smith (73) and Alex Carey (61) led the Aussies to 264. Now, India will await the winner  $of the second semifinal \, between$ South Africa and New Zealand at Lahore on Wednesday.

Kohli had wonderful support from Shreyas Iyer (45) with whom he realised 91 runs for the third wicket, and steadied the ship after the early departures of skipper Sharma (28) and Shubman Gill (9). Australia were weakened by the absence of some of their premier stars, but India had not beaten them in the knockouts of an ICC tournament since the quarterfinal of the 2011 World Cup. However,

Kohliwas determined to correct that anomaly.

Kohli's struggle point in an ODI innings is his inability to force the pace against spinners, but here the champion batter negated leg-spinner Adam Zampa, who had his number on a few occasions in the past, quite effectively.

The Indian bowlers deserve some credit too as they kept the Aussies batting on a tight leash despite well-paced fifties from Steve Smith and Alex Carey.

Australian skipper Smith (73,96b,4x4,1x6) won a good toss, but the batters could not exploit fine batting conditions, throwing their wickets away through silly shots.

PepsiCo had lost the official beverage sponsorship rights to Coca-Cola in the 1996 Cricket World Cup, which was jointly hosted by India, Pakistan, and Sri Lanka. Following that, Pepsico came with the famous 'nothing official about it' campaign star ring cricket icons Sachin Tendulkar, Vinod Kambli and Mohammed Azharuddin.
